

This guideline is prepared by assistant lecturer Nian Saeed Abdullah and assistant lecturer Bestoon Salih Ali to help students write their project graduation academically. This research guideline can also be used as a template because the guideline is written following all the required styles and formats that students are supposed to follow. So, it is easier for students to use it as a template and just replace their content with those in this template. Take note that throughout the project graduation, you need to follow APA format guidelines.

Section One

Introduction

1.1. Purpose of the Study

Explain why this topic is chosen, what is the problem, and what do you want to achieve.

1.2 Significance of the Study

What is the importance of what you achieve through this study? Who does get benefit from?

1.3 Organization of the Study

Give a summary of the organization of your project.

Section Two

Literature Review

A literature review consists of an overview, a summary, and an evaluation (“critique”) of the current state of knowledge about a specific chosen topic. Start by giving a general outline of the broad issues related to your topic or question then narrow it down to your specific topic. In this section, the previous practical studies should be introduced and discussed that are related to your topic.

Section Three

Methodology

This section provides information about the research design, participants, data collection and analysis procedures as well as how the findings are analyzed.

1.1 Research Design

The research design refers to the overall strategy that you choose to integrate the different components of the study in a coherent and logical way. In other words, students need to explain the overall procedure of conducting their study.

1.2 Participants (if there are any)

The participants and the population should be introduced in this subsection.

1.3 Data Collection (if there are any)

The data collection and the tools that are the backbone of a research paper should be precisely revealed.

1.4 Data Analysis (if there are any)

Explain the procedures you followed to analyze your data.

Section Four

Results and Discussion

In this section, students need to present and discuss the results in detail. Students can do this in two separate sections or integrate them in one complete section.

Section Five

Conclusion

5.1 Conclusion

Give a full summary of the work and your concluding points.

5.2 Recommendations

Discuss your recommendation.
