Abstract:

Work culture is the set of ideas, emotions, rules and expectations that the employees of an organization act according to. Culture is formed and influenced by several factors, including the authority structure in the organization, the policies followed, the managerial mentality, the product and the industry, as well as the competitive strategy of the company Work culture is one of the most important elements of the success of any company because of its direct impact on the company's reputation in the labor market, its ability to retain talent, quality of performance and productivity, and even indicators of profit and customer or consumer loyalty. So, your company will develop a culture over time, The work culture of the company is like the character and habits of the individual. The individual needs to constantly improve his habits and character in order to improve his quality of life and his sense of happiness. Which is reflected in the improvement of his performance and chances of success in all aspects of life.
